

Biographical Introduction

My name is Tomohiro Koga and I am a lecturer in the Department of Rheumatology and Collagen Diseases at Nagasaki University. My specialty is clinical immunology and autoimmune diseases including rheumatoid arthritis and autoinflammatory diseases including familial Mediterranean fever. With the pandemic of COVID-19, the network of innate and adaptive immunity is attracting attention, and I aim to stratify each disease that causes cytokine storms according to its pathophysiology.

<https://www.tmgh.nagasaki-u.ac.jp/en/professors/tomohiro-koga>